

WORLD'S PRETTIEST LEGS

Here is Shirley Kellogg, a demure little New York singer, who is declared to have the most perfect legs in the world. She is one of the leading players at the Winter Garden in New York, and every night, when she dances out on the suspension bridge over the heads of the audience she brings down the house.

Why?

Simply because her legs are so beautifully modeled that people cannot refrain from applauding.

Miss Kellogg takes her honors a little timidly. "I don't like to wear tights," she says, "and I never did do so until this year."

BABY RUNS A JOY-RIDE.

Miss Billie Harvey is in bad. Miss Billie is all of 1 year and 11 months old, and yesterday she took her great-grandmamma joy riding.

Great-grandma did not enjoy the joy ride very much and will not recover from it for some time. Miss Billie enjoyed the joy ride gloriously, but she will not recover from what happened to her when her mother got her home for some time.

The net cost of that glorious joy ride is as follows:

- One spanked chauffeuse.
- One damaged electric runabout.
- One very badly damaged plate glass window.
- One damaged park policeman.
- One case of hysterics acquired by Billie's mother.
- One case of hysterics acquired by Billie's grandmother.
- One badly frightened great-grandmother.

Billie's grandmother, Mrs. W. D. McJunkin of 933 Marquette terrace, started the affair by inviting Billie's mother, Mrs. Har-
